

|           |  |   |
|-----------|--|---|
|           |  |   |
| mound     |  | There was a mound of clothes on the messy teenager's floor.                |
| tract     |  | Other side of the mountains was a long tract of forest.                    |
| scrap     |  | Chris liked to use many scraps of paper  when thinking up ideas.       |
| speck     |  | A speck of blood appeared where the mosquito bit him.                      |
| bead      |  | beads of water collected outside the glass.                                |
| loaf      |  | Could you please buy a loaf of bread for sandwiches?                       |
| multitude |  | A multitude of people were waiting at the airport.                         |
| chunk     |  | When they broke open the rock, they saw it was filled with chunks of gold. |
| bunch     |  | She was hungry, so she ate the entire bunch of grapes .                    |
| puff      |  | A puff of smoke came from the burnt match.                                 |
| slice     |  | The girl enjoyed a slice of cake at her birthday party.                    |
| stack     |  | There was a stack of paperwork on his desk to complete.                    |
| herd      |  | The herd of cows moved slowly across the ranch.                            |
| pile      |  | The pile of cups was beginning to tilt.                                    |
| patch     |  | There was one small patch of grass in the sand-covered desert.             |
| heap      |  | After the building was torn down, all that was left was a heap of bricks . |
| fleet     |  | The fleet of ships spent a few days at the dock.                           |

Revision #1

Created 28 February 2020 09:17:07 by einverne

Updated 28 February 2020 09:17:26 by einverne